social disruption due to COVID-19 , remains particularly relevant to measuring our impact and understanding the changing dynamics in this global supply chain. Better work is committed to provide the necessary evidence base to play a role to inform how stakeholders will shape business and global supply chains in the aftermath of the COVID-19 crisis. Briefs are focused on research or policy, highlighting key findings and lessons learned. The discussion papers are part of an original and peer-reviewed series presenting progress research material in work for comment and feedback. The annual report presents a country specific analysis of non-compliance at the total level. These reports aim to provide transparent information for all programme stakeholders on working conditions in factories participating in the programme.
